

Reading Station:

The Case of the Giant Easter Egg

1. Look and Read

This is Grammor. He is a very hungry monster. Today is Easter Sunday, and Grammor is in the garden. He is looking for Easter eggs. Oh, look! There is a giant orange egg behind the big tree. Grammor is very happy. He thinks it is a chocolate egg, but he is wrong! There is a small chick inside the egg. The chick is yellow and very soft. There are also two small Easter bunnies next to the giant egg. They are eating hot cross buns. Grammor says: "I don't want to eat this egg. I want to play with my new friends!"

2. Look at the text and find the 3 mistakes:

The text says Grammor is in the house, but the story says he is in the:

The text says the giant egg is purple, but the story says it is:

The text says Grammor wants to eat the egg, but he actually wants to:

True or False

Grammor is looking for Easter eggs. [T / F]

There is a giant egg under the table. [T / F]

The chick is yellow and soft. [T / F]

The Easter bunnies are eating pizza. [T / F]

There are two bunnies next to the egg. [T / F]